CONTENTS

PAGE

The Le Havre–Paris Pipeline. J. B. Capdeville 1

The Determination of Mono- and Di-Aromatics in Mineral Oil Fractions. H. Geelen, H. I. Waterman, and J. B. Westerdijk 14

Modulus of Rigidity and Penetration of Paraffin Waxes. W. M. Mazee 21

Diesel Combustion Study by Infra-red Emission Spectroscopy. W. T. Lyn 25

Ring Analysis of Mineral Oil Fractions by Means of Nomograms using Kinematic Viscosity, Refractive Index, and Density. J. Cornelissen and H. I. Waterman 47

Formula for Horizontal Flowlines for High Pressure Crudes. H. C. Collis 57

Cetane Numbers—their Determination and Significance. The Ignition Quality of Diesel Fuels Panel of IP Standardization Sub-Committee No. 5 64

Obituaries: Everette Lee De Golyer 67

Herbert Stillman 68

The Hydraulics of Drilling Mud Flow. P. W. Cooke 69

Overall and Liquid Efficiencies in a Kaskade Column. F. H. Garner, O.B.E., S. R. M. Ellis, and E. S. Luxon 86

The Separation of Naphthalene and its Hydrogenated Products by Vapour-Phase Chromatography. R. M. Soemantri and H. I. Waterman 94

Symposium on Digital Computers in the Petroleum Industry

Computing Facilities in Great Britain. J. H. Wilkinson 101

Some Applications of Electronic Digital Computers to Fundamental Research in the Petroleum Industry. M. P. Barnett 108

The Application of Digital Computers to Problems of Process Development in the Petroleum Industry. J. T. Ahlin 111

The Application of a Computer to Refinery Problems. B. D. Dagnall and P. Mayers 115

Pre-flame Reactions in Diesel Engines. Part IV. The Effect of Compression Ratio. F. H. Garner, O.B.E., Frank Morton, J. B. Saunby, and G. H. Grigg 124

Symposium on Staff Training

Recognition of the Need for Training. T. L. Stephens 131

The Use of Formal Training Schemes as a Factor in Career Development. R. S. Butler 137

Techniques of Presentation in Education and Training. A. I. S. Debenham 142

The Relation between Redwood No. 1 Seconds and Kinematic Viscosities. Masumi Kinoshita . . 152

The Relation between Saybolt Universal Viscosities and Kinematic Viscosities. Masumi Kinoshita . 161

Correspondence: Detection of Benzene Vapour 165

Cetane Numbers—their Determination and Significance 165

Patents in the Petroleum Industry. J. T. Tyson 167

The Flash Temperature Parameter: a Criterion for Assessing E.P. Performance on the Four-Ball Machine. T. B. Lane 181

Separation of Polymers from Lubricating Oils. A. Groszek 184

Obituary: Basil Rawdon Jackson 186

Recent Trends in Exploration Methods. A. T. Dennison and H. R. Warman 187

CONTENTS

PAGE

Investigations of Tritium Bremsstrahlung as a Means of Determining Sulphur and Tetra-Ethyl Lead in Hydrocarbons. M. M. Kannuna 198

Obituary: Charles Dabell 202

The Institute of Petroleum

Annual Report 203

Forty-fourth Annual General Meeting 213

Some Applications of Radioactivity in the Petroleum Industry. J. L. Putman 215

The Plunger Rheometer—Law of Flow for a Newtonian Liquid. G. S. Smith 227

Scuffing Tests for Gear Oils 230

Measuring the Precision of Test Methods. E. A. Field 233

The Properties of Asphaltic Bitumen in Relation to its Use in Road Construction. A. R. Lee and J. H. Nicholas 235

Hot Asphalt Construction. P. C. Leaver 247

Obituary: Richard Stansfield 272

Petter Engine Tests of Diesel Lubricating Oils. R. Tourret and R. W. Bale 273

The Measurement of the Surface Tension and Interfacial Tension of Insulating Oils. L. Massey, N. N. Murty, and C. N. Thompson 282

Obituary: R. M. Johnson 287

The Separation of Mixtures of Biphenyl, *cyclo*Hexylbenzene, and Bi*cyclo*hexyl by Vapour-Phase Chromatography. W. J. Hendriks, R. M. Soemantri, and H. I. Waterman 288

Report of IP Carbon Residue Panel 292

Hydro-isomerization of Paraffin Wax. F. Breimer, H. I. Waterman, and A. B. R. Weber 297

The Chemical Constitution of the Higher "Naphthenic Acids." J. Knotnerus 307

Obituaries: Walter Ambrose Woodrow 313

J. E. E. Jenkin 313

R. L. Sarjeant 314

Selectivity in Chemical Reactions. H. I. Waterman and A. B. R. Weber 315

Hydrocarbon Research Group Report, 1954–56. 323

Author Index. 325

Name Index. 327

Subject Index. 329